Hi,

I spoke with Wendy just now. She says she will send me some information over the weekend regarding this meeting request. She says it is not urgent, but she'd like to have it within a month. In short, she'd like to talk to the AG about Exxon Mobil and whether there is a liability on the company's part if they knew about climate changes and didn't disclose it to its stakeholders. The NY AG is investigating the company and she wanted to know if this was something the AG may be interested in supporting or signing on to—she didn't know what the proper protocol was. She would like to bring in a lawyer named Matt Pawa, who has offices in Boston and DC. Wendy says he may have been the one to go to the NY AG's office about Exxon. Here's a NYT article that gives some additional info.
