Will do. We have spoken with both of their offices in the past, so I will reach out again today.

Thanks Sam, this is great. Is there anything we can do that would be helpful on this front?

Thanks Aaron. Couple updates from our end: RI remains very interested in doing an event. We're trying to shape one with them - CA doing most of work - primarily based around new Alliance member additions (NC first candidate - just talked with them and will again a little later today; also CO; potentially MD or MT). Im planning to catch Mass today (they have some new DC staff) to gauge level of interest from them also. Per our past discussion this event could certainly include recognition of WASI too. And if theres a biz tie (e.g. CVS joining WASI, all the better). Trying to see if theres a way we might involve Elon Musk also, since he'll be in RI... but that might be too heavy to lift.

Inslee wont be there. Too bad, but not an impediment.

Alliance members' staff are also convening for a planning meeting Fri afternoon/Sat morning, in Providence.

In short: nothing pulled together yet but hoping something can materialize over next 24 hrs..

Hi Everyone,

Just wanted to follow back up as the NGA is getting closer and closer. Dan and I spoke with Peter Rothstein and NECEC this morning and he proposed since the timeline is so short, to reach out to CONEG to see if they would be willing to co-host a side event with Climate Alliance. 5 of the 7 (i think) CONEG Govs are in the Climate Alliance and if they are interested in having an event at NGA about climate, we can at least get the logistics going so other governors know there is an event they can join. Then we can focus efforts on recruiting 4 governors to sign up - 2 dem, 2 gop, 2 eastern, 2 western (Hogan, Wolf) and (Hickenlooper or Bullock, Sandoval)

I will reach back out to Bullock's office and Raimondo's office today to check in. And I will be sure to keep you all in the loop. Anything I missed?

Sam - Any news from your end? Has Gov. Inslee decided if he will attend NGA next week? Would it be possible for him to at least send a message to the Climate Alliance Governors and let them know there is going to be a Climate side event at NGA?

Elan - Any news from you? Any luck on talking with the CEO of CVS and see if they are willing to join We Are Still In by next week?

Aaron

Agree – this is an excellent note. Very well done Franz and Aaron!

I have a tweak to the messaging, in the hope that we can build in the WASI message under the Alliance banner (see edited point below; and I've moved it below the Alliance point so that it's clear that it's primarily an Alliance event):

Potential Message Frame:

- The US has a long tradition of leading the way on important public health, economic, national security and global issues -- we have an obligation to take action to address climate change.
- In lieu of federal leadership Governors are stepping up to take the mantle of US climate leadership and making best efforts to meet the level of ambition set out in the US target - namely cutting emissions by 26-28% below 2005 levels by 2025.
- Today State X is joining [US Climate Alliance] to do our part in keeping America's promise to take ambitious action on climate change and support the international regime put in place by the Paris Agreement on climate change.
- States are eager to partner with other non-state actors in the We Are Still In campaign [businesses and industry, cities, Universities, Investors and others] to deliver on this commitment.
- States have the tools and wherewithal to deliver on their commitments - and we will.

Thanks gents. Switching this over into my work email.

I'm in full concurrence with the below bullets and subsequent dialogue. I have circled up with the rest of the USCA co-chairs teams about our conversation and the march towards RI. We'll talk more Monday about what everyone is comfortable with and the art of the possible. I think all of us here are also continuing to talk with other governors who are part of these coalitions (like RI), or are interested to announce joining them (like CO), and who will be at the NGA. We should continue to use that meeting as a forcing event for recruitment (and cross-recruitment), as we also look at how we might be able to display governors/state climate leadership and commitment to Paris in some type of event in Providence.

Lets circle up by mid to late week and compare notes.

Definitely makes sense to me - by no means would we discourage reference to either, and as you say encouragement to Govs that are stepping up to also cite WASI is all germane to me.

Thanks,

Hey Franz! Thanks so much for the readout. I think we should endeavor to represent both brands at any event, recognizing that if it is a governor-only event it should be primarily a USCA event. In that case though, I would still hope that the governors can point to We Are Still In as a multi-sectoral coalition that they have also joined.

Does that make sense?

Subject: Follow Up to Today's Call

Hi Sam/Elan and team,

Thanks for taking the time for today's call, it was very productive from our standpoint. We've captured a summary and next steps from the discussion here - please let us know if you have other items or questions or if we've missed anything here.

- WASI and USCA will work together to recruit new members for both organizations
- Events that are with governors only should be USCA
- Events with broader coalitions should be WASI
- For the NGA side-event, first preference is to recruit a bipartisan group of governors to join the USCA and do a joint press conference during NGA, giving Govs a platform to explain briefly what their state is doing to meet their share of the US NDC and goals of the Paris Agreement. Recruitment priorities are PA, CO, MD, LA, MT, NV, NC.
- For a potential second event, WASI will look at looping in the leaders of business that are part of WASI to do a joint press conference with governors and potentially some mayors. Recruitment priorities are CEO of CVS, possibly Musk. Lineup could be Gov. Riamando, CEO of CVS as new joiner, Elon Musk, Mayor of Providence, University.
- All groups are going to continue recruitment efforts and we will touch base again next week to see where we are at.

(As a side-note we had a productive conversation with Bullock's staff this afternoon and are hopeful that they will be able to join. Should have more info next week)

Thanks!

Franz
