Gov - FYI - James Bradbury is escaping USDOE and will land at the Georgetown Climate Center, wherein he'll be working with states to advance climate progress. We put in a good word on his behalf over there.

The G'town Climate Center (GCC) was formed by states (including ours) years ago to enhance state collaboration, and advocacy to the feds, on climate. It's a small organization, but a really productive and influential one. It was GCC that coordinated comments across states that ultimately had enormous influence shaping the EPA Clean Power Plan. And it was GCC that worked with Chris, me, and CA staff to organize that recent letter from governors to Trump urging the US to stay in the Paris Agreement. They'll play a role as we continue advancing interstate partnership on climate..

Anyway - just wanted to pass along this update. Team Inslee alums in good places doing important work.

Hey Sam!

I'm writing to let you know that my job search has finally ended!

This is my last week at DOE and next Monday (May 22) I start work at the Georgetown Climate Center. I'll be their new Mitigation Program Manager, replacing Gabe.

I want to thank you again for your help, serving as a reference. I really appreciate it.

I'm excited for this opportunity to work with states, help them to advance climate policy.

I'm sure that there will be many more opportunities for us to work together and I'm looking forward to it!

Feel free to pass along this news. I'll be sure to share with you my new email address, once I have it.

Warm regards,

James
