Melissa and Christophe - we will bring our own projector for today but just a reminder we will need a room with a screen.

See you shortly.

Happy New Year Chris and Melissa - I have been in discussions with Brad Campbell of CLF about the Exxon issue and we are coordinating on this. Would it be OK for him to attend our meeting next week?

Best,

Matt

Matt – Thanks for reaching out on this issue. We are looking at January at this point, but we would be interested in what you've put together. We have already been through many of the documents, so you probably can dispense with the basics. Right now, the 11th might be a good day, with relatively good availability for us late morning or afternoon. Would that work for you? --Christophe

Melissa and Christophe - You have probably been reading about the disclosure of Exxon's early knowledge. My office has collected and reviewed the documents that recently came to light and we have put together a mini trial-type presentation on what Exxon knew about global warming, when it knew it and what it did anyway in the next 20 plus years.

I have been giving this presentation to various government officials and am told that it has been very helpful to their understanding of the situation as they consider options similar to those the NY AG has commenced. I would be happy to do this presentation for you if you are interested (and without regard to any issue of hiring counsel -- this is just information provided as a public service that you may be able to use as you consider whether to take a closer look at this matter).
